Chapter 1 - Introducing Exotic Bengal Kittens to

You - Briefing Their Characteristics

Having a pet in the house reflects a kind heart of a home owner. Exotic Bengal kittens are popular not only in India but across the world. Good news for the pet lovers! They can now bring a cute kitten to home, Bengali kitten which is considered as one of the best breeds of kittens.

Several people bring Bengali kittens to their home but it is true that these pets need special care. If you are a pet lover then certainly you are eager to know more about the characteristic of Bengal kittens.

Bengal kittens look bit wild by their looks but personality is completely opposite. They are not only lovable pet but they are active, intelligent, alert and active as well. They can easily accommodate with other pets in the home. Bengal kittens need love from their master and thus it is essential that you should spend some time with them to know more about their characteristic.

Bengal kittens require much more space or freedom as compared to other cats. It is due to their active and curious nature. When it comes to grooming, Bengal cats have small hairs which means they need less grooming comparatively other cats. Flea treatment and regular bathing is essential to keep it sanitized.

If you go for a morning walk then make sure to go with your Bengal kitten because they love walking. They are really active but sometimes they enjoy in completely a different manner. If you have a tree nearby your house then you need to spend some time beneath tree to get it back. Still, you will enjoy the company of this little, cute and muscular kitten.

Choosing a pet for home can be bit difficult but you can easily notice a best Bengal kitten by considering the behavior. They are active and look wise quite unique as compared to other traditional cats. Just like wild cats they are brave and have natural tendency to climb or fight. It is true that Bengal kittens are affectionate along with incredibly intelligent and cute. Caring of kittens is not like dogs but you need to spend some time so that your pet gets familiar to you.

If you have less time to take care of your kitten then make sure to hire anyone who can care for your pet during your absence. You will be addicted to such beautiful and exotic Bengal kittens but it is essential to keep additional money per month for the grooming and wellness of your kitten.

Chapter 2 - How to take well care of Bengal cat?

If you have a new born Bengal cat in your home then it is essential to take special care of it in order to keep it healthy. Most people afraid of keeping new born kittens in the house as there is a good care required to keep your kitten healthy. Small or new born kittens need warmth as it is bit hard for them to keep their normal body temperature. Make sure to follow the same regime for around 3 to 4 weeks till they grown up. It is better to use a plastic container to keep your kittens. It is essential to bring a spacious container in which your kittens can adjust comfortably. Also, you can easily wash away that plastic container.

It is also important to cover the newly born Bengal kittens with a warm blanket or cloth for their protection. It will be great if you can keep some warm bottles of water in the container with cats. You can also use heating pad rather than warm bottles. New born kittens only drink milk and it is good to bring a baby bottle to feed them. You need to feed the kittens in every 2 hours at least for a week.

New born Bengal kittens have their own tendency to eat or drink, so do not feed forcefully. After feeding, it is suggested that you should massage their tummy for easy digestion. It also helps in stimulating organs which is important for their survival. Mother cat do this with tongue, certainly you had seen this!

Food poisoning is the main threat to Bengal kittens but you need to take special care of their food. Food with fungus or bacteria can be life threatening, so try to avoid such foods. Human food can also be dangerous for your kitten, so if you have seen any sign of vomiting or coughing, seek immediate medical assistance. Always remember that most Bengal kittens are severely allergic to chocolates as obromine and caffeine in the chocolates are dangerous for kittens, so try to avoid!

There are three major factors which must be considered seriously.

- Is your kitten not eating much food just like every day?
- How many times your kitten is going potty or not going?
- Are you noticing some signs of coughing, fever or abnormal activities?

If your answer to the above questions is yes then you must approach a veterinarian before its symptoms get uncontrolled. So, follow these simple steps to take good care of your Bengal cat.

Chapter 3 - Common Health Problems Related in Bengal Kittens

Bengal kittens require serious care due to their unique and distinct breed. There are some practical health problems with their answers. Every pet owner who is serious about the health of their pet must check out the below safety norms.

Snaky cats have very bad habit of garbage tasting but it can be too dangerous for the kittens. It is essential to take good care of your Bengal kitten in order to prevent such garbage picking habit. Diarrhea, vomiting, bloody vomiting, weakness, fever and abdominal pain are few signs of food poisoning in Bengal kitten. Follow the instructions given by veterinarian to cover up the health of kitten in short time. Teflon is also another kind of food poisoning and is common among Bengal kittens. Symptoms are same but visit your veterinarian to get right treatment.

Bengal cats are really allergic to chocolates but it may happen sometimes, not commonly. Make sure not to leave chocolates near kitten's place as it can be too dangerous for your pet. Excess urination, vomiting, weakness, fast breathing, seizure and hyperactivity are few symptoms of allergy via chocolates. During festival seasons, there are more chances to leave chocolates near kitten's place, so try avoiding this!

In a home, there are different kinds of cleaning solvents available and you need to avoid such items to protect your cat. Toilet cleaners, bleach, caustics, detergent and pine oil can be too dangerous for your cat. These items may harm the organs of your kitten. If you have noticed such activity of cat, make sure to visit your veterinarian as early as possible.

Bengal cats are easily affected by different kinds of parasites and fleas. Some people often use dog's flea product on cat but it is harmful for cat and thus make sure to avoid such solutions. Just clean the skin of your kitten regularly to maintain its overall health. Consuming heavy metals such as lead and zinc may be dangerous for the health of your kitten. It may create constipation, pain in abdomen and diarrhea like symptoms. There are different kinds of drugs available in the house for human beings may also be dangerous for Bengal kitten.

Consuming different kinds of worms such as roundworms, tapeworms, hookworms and heartworms may be poisonous for kittens. Thus, it is always suggested that one should care for the Bengal kittens and it is better not to leave your kitten without accompanying it. So, you can consider the above problems which can be too harmful for kittens if not treated on time.

Chapter 4 - Type of feed to give them at different age level

In the market, you can find aplenty of cat foods for different age groups but it is essential to give a right food to your Bengal kitten according to age level. Age is one of the crucial factors by considering which you should feed your kitten. Health is another factor which must be considered before choosing a right food for cat. Food for kittens comes in three different textures which may include dry, wet or canned and moist. Dry food is given to Bengal kittens at the age group of 4 weeks. Most cats at the same age groups are finicky eaters. You will be surprised to know that most cats are finicky eaters.

Cats at the age group of 1 to 2 weeks always like chewy and soft food. You can also give wet food to your Bengal kitten at this age group. This kind of food actually comes in foil packets or cans. As you know cats are carnivorous which simply means that their diet must contain meat. No matter whether you are giving food to which age group of cat but it is essential to consider meat as one of the major ingredients. You can give corn products to Bengal kittens during the first or second week of its birth but after that you should give meat exclusively as major food.

There are different flavors in which cat foods are available in the market. You will be amazed to know that wet, moist and dry foods for Bengal kittens are also available in the flavors of beef, lamb and chicken flavors. You can also choose food combinations such as lamb or beef, chicken or lamb and beef or chicken.

Bengal kittens are bit picky in choosing these flavors and undoubtedly do not get surprised if any food or flavor is affronted by your kitten. It is essential to take special care while giving food to on to 4 weeks old kitten. They have sensitive digestive system and thus make sure to give food which can easily digested.

You can feed fresh meat to your adult Bengal cat but make sure to give a limited quantity. Bengal kittens are all time hungry pets but do not feed them all time as your cat may get overweight. In fact, it is better to take them for a morning or evening walk which they will love to go. So, after 4 weeks, you can continue giving them normal dry cat food which they can eat comfortably.

Chapter 5 - Hybrid cat breed facts

There is a huge demand for hybrid cat breeds across the world and the main reason behind this rising interest of people is the amazing features. Bengal cat can be a great alternative for hybrid cat breed. Good news for the cat lovers as Bengal cat is one of the most demanding cats throughout world. Bengal kittens are not only active but they are fluffy, incredibly cute and very lovely creatures. There are some facts about this unique and incredible breed which must be well known to all who are planning to bring Bengal kittens to home. Well, the very first fact of this hybrid Bengal cat is that they have strong need to fight and hunt for their food.

This type of behavior of Bengal cats ends with dropping them at a rescue center or animal shelter. If you want to know more about the hybrid cat breed facts, you can discuss it with any member of rescue center or animal shelter who has kept Bengal kittens for long time. If someone wants to bring such hybrid cat breeds to home, they should approach the animal shelters or cat rescue facilities. Such organizations are either privately owned or an NGO working for the welfare of different cat breeds across the world. They play crucial role in correcting the behavior of cats which means anyone can buy cats from such centers without any worry from the behavior aspect.

You can also buy hybrid cat breeds from any other facility but you cannot have any control on their wild behavior. This is the reason it is always suggested that one should consider such issues seriously before buying hybrid cat breed. Another fact and of course benefit of buying a Bengal cat from a rescue center is that they are nurtured and properly vaccinated which is more important. If you buy any breed of cat from any other center, you need to give complete vaccination for your and family member's safety.

A major fact about the hybrid cat is that more you nurture or stimulate a hybrid cat; more you can acquire control over it. The aggressive behavior of hybrid cat is mainly due to boredom but if you are with your pet most of the time, you can limit this aggressive behavior to great extent. Also, you need to treat your hybrid kitten with great affection and make it to learn good etiquettes. Most Bengal cats are the end result of mating with Leopard Asian cat and domestic cat. So, try to gather more knowledge about such hybrid cat breeds to get the best type of cat.

Chapter 6 - How to raise them for loving companion

Bengal kittens are considered to be lovable, wonderful pet and great companion. It is true that by raising them perfectly, they will be gentle, playful, affectionate, outgoing and even tempered. Leopard Asian cat is considered to be the ancestor of Bengal cat. When it comes to physical attribute, Bengal cats are considered to be powerful, active and surefooted. The lovable nature of Bengal kitten mainly depends upon the attention and love given to your pet during early life. It is true that some Bengal cats are just like showmen but some often stay reserved. If you want to make your pet as a loving companion, it is essential to give it more time and affection.

If you have any other pet, dog or other cat in the house, make sure to gather complete knowledge about the early life of your kitten before adopting. You can easily get a clear insight of this by considering their behavior with breeder's family members. If you have any other pet in the house, make sure to introduce slowly to all. It is true that pets need some time to get adjusted in a new environment but introducing new toys and good food, you can make the task much easier. It is always suggested that one should keep the Bengal kittens indoor. It is mainly due to fact that they are cute, striking and beautiful. They can be easily stolen and adopted by someone else, so take special care of it!

If you really want to raise your Bengal kittens as lovable, always remember they love playing in water. You can allow them playing water games or allow them to take bath with you. They are intelligent creatures and can easily adjust in the family by introducing such tricks. Best and right time to take Bengal kittens to home is during normal or peaceful time. For instance, it is avoided to bring during festival time or during holidays. It is just an advice as you cannot give more time to your Bengal during holidays or festivals.

Bengal cats need more space wherever you are going to keep them. Make sure to access them water easily else they can create nuisance in the home. Also, they are quite demanding and you can easily understand their vocabulary after spending few days with them. They are not only beautiful and affectionate but they are considered to be very intelligent as well. So, definitely by giving proper care to your Bengal kitten, you can raise them as a loving companion.

Chapter 7 - Where to find best Bengal kittens from Bengal cat is actually a foreign breed which also looks similar to wild cat. Color and behavior of Bengal cat makes it unique and different from several other breeds. Bengal kittens looks like gold and it has a very shiny fur. Asian leopard is actually an ancestor of Bengal cat. They are not only different in looks but they are extremely intelligent as compared to traditional cats. There are several resources from where you can find best Bengal kittens. You can also ask to the people who have already purchased Bengal kittens. They can easily tell you the best place where you can find best Bengal kittens.

There are several reputable breeders available and thus you can approach those breeders to buy Bengal kittens. By visiting them, you can ask questions about the Bengal cats. Breeder must be highly knowledgeable and cats must look happy and healthy. It is essential to look at the way a breeder is handling the kittens. It will give you a clear insight about the right way to treat kittens in the home. Not just one but makes sure to visit different kitten breeders to experience as many breeders as possible. However, it is essential to confirm whether a cat has any congenital defect or not. Reputed breeders instantly tell if there is any kind of defect in the cat or not.

Also, you need to decide whether you want a kitten or cat as there is a lot of difference between both. Some breeders also offer health guarantee in case if the kitten or cat turns out to be in very bad health. You can also have a look at the living condition where the breeder is keeping all kittens or cats. If the kittens or cats are living in good condition, you can go ahead to buy Bengal. However, if a breeder is making excuse for not showing up the condition of kittens, you can get an idea of what he/she is hiding from you.

By asking such questions, you can easily read out the integrity and honesty of breeder. There are several breeders you can find online but still you need to interrogate about the living condition of kittens or cats. It is a best way to find out the best breeder and thus you can get the best Bengal kitten for your home. ## Chapter 8 - How to take care of your cats well when you are away

If you are planning a long vacation and do not want to keep your pet along with, what you can do for your pet during that time! Obviously, you cannot take your pets everywhere you go, so you need to find out some ways to take care of your cats well when you are away. The first and only idea that comes into mind is to keep aplenty of food and water so that your cats can get at least essential nutrients during your absence. It is essential to keep aplenty of cat food which they can access easily so that your cat can use it whenever it is required.

It is always suggested that you should also keep some dry food as cats like it very much. It is better to use canned food for your cat during your absence. Such kind of food is not only good but is inexpensive as well. Dry food must be kept just for the little exercise of your cat's jaws. Dry food cannot bring obesity in cat and that is why it is considered to be good during the absence of owners. It is also essential to place a litter box and some toys in the home. Cats have a common habit of scratching things, so place something with which your cat can play.

There are several things which must be considered seriously by you. For instance, security of your kitten or cat while you are away is a major issue. In such a case, you can contact a sitter to take good care of your cat during your absence. You can ask your sitter to give regular updates about the cat. However, it is not essential but still if you want then you can ask your sitter. Apart from all, make sure to leave huge amount of food and other supplies.

Pet Sitters

You can find plenty of pet sitters either online or you can ask from your colleagues or friends. They can tell you some best pet sitters in the area. It is good to approach an experienced or professional pet sitter to take care of your cats. They can easily handle your problem and thus you can spend your vacations without any worry. Pet sitters have good knowledge about the amount of food which must be given to cats. So, cats are very moody and they hated to leave the environment where they are living from long time. It is good to hire pet services to take care of your cats when you are away.

Are you planning to bring a new kitten in your home? If yes then make sure to consider some essential things in order to raise new kitten in a good way. You can also involve your kids to learn some techniques for raising newly born kittens. It can help you to create a good bonding between your family and a new member in the house. It should be your effort to give an additional responsibility on your kids to take good care of kitten. It will be a great idea to ask your kids to name a new member in the house. The main concept is that if someone loves something, it becomes very easy to take good care of it.

While enjoying with your kitty, it is essential to change the bowls, changing of water and cleaning the bowls from time to time. Oral care of kitten is one of the essential things which should be done seriously. General grooming and cleaning of hair must be done regularly. It is important to prevent the formation of heartworms and fleas on the body or hairs of cat. As you spend time with your kitty, you can start recognizing the signs of wellness and unhealthy behavior of your cat. Kids can perform such responsibilities quite well, so it is good to give such tasks to them.

It is essential to give an additional space to the cat, private space! It is mainly due to the fact that cats needs some time to get adjusted in a new environment. It is the only way to make your kitty to feel comfortable in your home. No matter whether you are giving a mat piece, a box and a basket, make sure to create kitty's home in advance. Talking soothingly and gentle strikingly is the way to get friendly with new member in short time. Every cat owner should prevent allowing their cat to go outside as it can be dangerous for your kitty.

You need to make enough space for your cat to play inside. Cats love to play with water and thus you can allow your cat to bath with you. Strings, colorful bows and balls should be there so that your cat can play inside. Cats are very playful and thus make sure to bring some toys to keep it busy. You should also play with cat for some time each and every day to make it loving. So, above are few tips but are very effective to raise your cat in good way.

Chapter 10 - Precautions to take while raising them

Do you work long hours but still want to bring a kitty in your home? You can do it, in fact you should bring two cats in your home so that both can play with each other while you are out. There are different kinds of cats available in the market but Bengal cats are quite popular due to their playful and friendly behavior. If you are bringing a Bengal cat in your house, make sure to give your kitty a complete privacy to make it feel comfortable. It is true that cats are bit private creatures but they love the company of children. It is always suggested that one should give a private accommodation or space to cats to make them feel comfortable.

Bringing cat brush is one of the essential precautions which must be followed seriously irrespective of short or long hairs. It is important to remove the loose hairs or fur of cat. While raising cat, it is essential to spend good time with cats so that they can easily get familiar with you. There are different kinds of cat foods available in the market and you should find out which food is loved by cats. It is true that cats are very moody creatures and they can affront food if they do not like it.

Kittens are very fond of milk but make sure to give buffalo milk as they will reject cow's milk. It is essential that cat's food must contain taurine as it is one of the important components in the list of cat's food. Due to deficiency of taurine, cats may develop heart ailment or blindness. This is the reason cats are not given food intended for dogs and human beings. Water is very important for the kittens and you need to keep it all time nearby the place of your kitty. Also, it is your responsibility to raise your cat as an active creature. Make sure to bring enough toys and balls with which your kitten can play.

Make sure to keep a close eye on the weight of your kittens. Sometimes, due to lack of exercise, kittens may gain weight which can be dangerous. First few days are important for the kitten as it is a time when you can socialize completely with your cat. You can stroke your kitten gently on the body, under the chin and under ears as well. Also, do not forget to keep a scratching pad or post with which your cat can scratch with. So, above are few precautions which must be considered while raising kittens.
